The program has been discontinued and replaced by StarFisher. You can still install the utility on your system and make use of its capabilities but you are not going to benefit from further updates. Initial tweaks The tool lets you choose the preferred region (American, European and Indian), set the default time zone, longitude, latitude and location, specify the saving directories, and choose between a simplified and advanced navigation mode. If you are a beginner you can enable the simplified mode which includes basic functions. The advanced mode embeds all configuration settings but it's a bit more difficult to master. The settings can be exported to a file so you can import them in your future projects.
