Goahead is a simple application that helps you to synchronize your important documents to your flash drive. All you need to do is to select the folder where you want to store the documents, and then drag and drop them onto Goahead's icon. Goahead automatically makes a copy of the selected folder on your flash drive, and the synchronize process takes the whole amount of time you need. Goahead starts a scanning and copying process right away, but will pause itself in order to ask for your confirmation. On confirmation, the process will be continued to its end, and you can check for any errors before proceeding with the rest. A small but very useful application The application icon has the same look as Windows 7's built-in Synchronize application, so it's easy to tell which one you're dealing with. Once a sync is finished, you can check the status by clicking on Goahead's status icon, and it will show you all the details about the process. When the process is finished, the flash drive will be empty and Goahead will keep your files in sync automatically. In case you find it annoying to keep changing your flash drive for no good reason, or want to be able to quickly grab your important documents out of the chaos, this utility might be useful for you. Simple and fast synchronizing solution Goahead has a simple interface, and its speed is impressive. Copying can be done in the background in a matter of seconds. The whole process does not require any user interaction, and there are no wait states to be taken into account. If the tool detects any problem, it will give you the chance to cancel. By default, only the files you drop onto Goahead are copied. However, you can also choose to synchronize your entire folder (including its subfolders) to your flash drive, using drag and drop. The tool works even faster with password protected folders. Once the application starts a synchronize process, it will ask for a password if the folder is locked. Applications like this are always welcome, especially when they come in an already-converted format. Even better, they don't require an in-depth study of their code, so they're able to offer their users a set of features, and functionality that may be the envy of other products. Goahead's official website Windows 7 can be

Ethics Beyond High School was founded in October of 2007 by a group of students who had experienced many different aspects of internet and classroom interactions. Through this forum, we hope to address and address issues related to the over use of the internet and its negative effects on students as well as teachers. By acknowledging the need for ethical internet use in the classroom, this community will raise awareness about the importance of ethics, values, and morals to the internet and will encourage students to think before they use the internet. If a student is caught cheating on their assignments, all of the facts are revealed. The whole community, including fellow students, administration, parents, teachers, and staff are aware of the student's actions, and students who cheated are shown no mercy. In order to maintain the community's standards, members of the community must commit to learning ethics as it relates to the internet and classroom use. Get a free antivirus program or subscribe to a premium one, but no matter what you do, you always need to keep an eye on threats. It's a huge responsibility and requires lots of time and effort, but fortunately there's a tool that can do all the dirty work, and make your life easier. The application is called How To Secure Windows, and it won't take long to find out why it's packed with useful tools. The main thing to know is that How To Secure Windows isn't a stand-alone application, or a small part of a bigger system, it's a free application. Although the requirements are pretty minimal, they include some system-wide changes, and a few extra tools that are available as part of the program. The software is available in 3 different builds, and depending on your PC setup, one might be more appropriate than the other. First of all, the so called free version is a complete package with everything, while the second one is a simplified version with no technical tools at all. The third build, named Ultra, combines both free and paid ones, but as its name suggests, it's only available if you opt to pay the $19.99 per month fee. From now on, we'll focus on the free version, and there's really no need to describe the paid version, since it offers all the tools, as well as the same set of functionality. The program is distributed as a self-extracting zip file. How To Secure Windows isn't as complex as some other applications out there, and it includes a setup wizard for the first time users, and a link to an online installer that removes the need for a full self-extracting installation. After completing the setup process, How To Secure Windows is launched, and the main window includes navigation tabs, controls, and a Search button. Search by file name You can search through any folder by just typing the text to search for. The search is automatic, and the results are shown in a list of all matching files. You can copy all the files to the clipboard, right click on a file to open it in a standard Windows text editor, or just select the ones you want to open by default. Search by content It's a bit more complicated, but it's not that much. Basically, you need to define a regular expression
