What's New in the CrystalCPUID NLite Addon?

CrystalCPUID is an easy to use CPU tool. It has a series of easy to use tasks and allows you to scan your computer to remove CPU bottlenecks. Once the CPU bottlenecks are removed it will trigger a process called Thermal Cleaning. This process will scan your computer to give your CPU room to breathe. This will result in a performance gain that is noticeable. This can help your computer last for a longer time and be more energy efficient. CrystalCPUID nLite Addon Screenshots: Feature Examples CPU Bottleneck Scanner It'll detect those problem areas that are detrimental to your computer's performance. CPU Fan controller Monitor the fan speed and make sure it's not low. Make sure to change the power settings as well. CPU Test Take an empty background and run the test. Benchmark Benchmark your system against the AIDA64 Benchmark tool. Memory Diagnostic Tests your memory Memory Dump Take memory dump @Jazar, have you read my post? I explained why you get error messages. Is that not enough? With the latest Windows 8.1 some older hardware (still working great) does not recognize it, so it is a genuine hardware detection problem. Why do you think the root is not enough to boot properly? What is the error you get when you try to boot from that root? If you cannot solve your problem by using that root, try It will allow you to activate Secure Boot and turn it off (or set which key it is expecting). To install Win. 8 64, select 'Windows 8 x64 Secure Boot Custom Installation'. Do not use the 'Full OEM (Windows XP)' button, it is not recommended. Read my comments in the above linked article. @Zel, you are not the only one, you can see many others who have a hard time upgrading their system and get forced back to Windows 8.1. I personally know a lot of older computers do not recognize Win 8.1 so they have problems. It's a genuine hardware detection problem. Bootable USB should work, you just need to take the USB drive out and put it back in. (Making sure it's turned on properly of course) Or, you can use one of the tools included
