Convenient Tool (NeconoteTools) Description: Uses “section” for the rows and columns. This tool enables auto optimization of the height of the first section, so that your rows will be aligned. Adds “section break lines”: it shows where the first section ends, and where the second section begins. Converts the text into numbers: it converts all the numbers into text. Gives a command (“replace”) for replacing the text with numbers. This is the opposite of the previous function. Converts the color of the cell background to gray.
