The link above doesn't work and when I search for it on Google it says it's a known malware site. A: To quote from Microsoft: There is no download of the executable. Instead, after entering an email address and clicking "Yes", you receive a link to a webpage that claims to include a copy of the software. If you click the link, you are directed to a copy-protection scheme that is a common method of distributing malware on the Internet. The scammers are able to use your email address and your trusted webcam because they have a copy of that webcam software on your computer, not because they have a copy of Windows Media Player. To be safe, do not install the software. Also, be sure to get software from reputable vendors, such as Microsoft, Apple, and the like. Q: Is there a way to insert variables in a url without.htaccess? Is there a way to insert variables in a url without using.htaccess? For example, instead of this: mysite.com/?ref=1234 Is there a way to do this? mysite.com/?ref=1234&id=xyz I know you can achieve something close to this using.htaccess, but I'm not sure how to do this (if possible). A: You can use a rewrite rule with the QSA flag: RewriteEngine On RewriteCond %{REQUEST_URI}!^/ RewriteCond %{REQUEST_FILENAME}!-d RewriteCond %{REQUEST_FILENAME}!-f RewriteRule (.) index.php?q=$1&%{QUERY_STRING} [L] If you want to do the same for a query string that doesn't start with a? then you'll need another rule: RewriteEngine On RewriteCond %{REQUEST_URI}!^/ RewriteCond %{REQUEST_FILENAME}!-d RewriteCond %{REQUEST_FILENAME}!-f RewriteCond %{QUERY_STRING}!^(?=[?&]\w+) RewriteCond %{QUERY_STRING} ^$ RewriteRule (.*) index.php?%
