A patient with a history of immune thrombocytopenia and a previous episode of severe headache was evaluated for persistent seizure activity. His platelet count was found to be in the thrombocytopenia range. Evaluation for a co-existing occult infectious process was negative, but his platelet count spontaneously returned to the normal range. As the seizure disorder persisted, a structural cerebral lesion was considered. Following magnetic resonance imaging, the patient was treated with phenytoin. The seizure disorder and thrombocytopenia resolved, with no cerebrospinal fluid lymphocytosis. This case demonstrates a rare clinical scenario associated with immune thrombocytopenia in which recurrent seizures are secondary to a structural cerebral lesion and illustrates the need for extensive evaluation of a patient with autoimmune disorders.Rivers Edge Apartments Value priced, spacious and located in a quiet street in Woolloongabba, Rivers Edge is a new four bedroom apartment development with a private balcony and courtyard. The $85,000 machine allows anyone to plug a USB thumb drive into it, put it in a laptop, and play classic games like R-Type and Defender from the 1980s all on their new computer—without having to do anything to the drive, software, or the computer itself. The retro retro-machine, invented by Isaac Chuang (who founded Retro Computers), does this via loading the games into a neural network that is trained based on human-level retro-game play. Thus, it learns to play itself. Gaming in the real world (if this should prove to be possible) would be an amazing thing—as gaming is to the modern world, video game culture is to our society. This artificial intelligence could unite the worlds of video game culture and of technology, and usher in a new age of gaming for the masses. [Retro Computers]Predictors of cardiac events in an older population of patients with non-ST segment elevation acute coronary syndromes. to examine the influence of demographic factors, cardiac risk factors and cardiac biomarkers on the risk of major adverse cardiac events (MACE) in patients with non-ST segment elevation acute coronary syndrome (NSTE-ACS) presenting within 48 h of onset of symptoms. the subjects were patients (n = 946) with NSTE-ACS who were treated with coronary angioplasty between 2000 and 2006. Patient data were collected and analysed retrospectively. the rate of MACE in the cohort was
