Details from the official press release: HyperMotion Technology - Your Ultimate Soccer Training Centre
Unprecedented player animations and reactions will enhance your control of your favourite players. New animations (for FIFA players only) offer an unprecedented amount of control and reactivity to enable your players to deliver a range of sophisticated, player-focused motions. The collection of defensive and offensive actions is as comprehensive as it is realistic. New counters offer dynamic options that feel new and logical, and the game will even pause before the ball is passed to the opposing team, for you to choose a tactic from a variety of options. The outcome of each situation is entirely yours to control. Player Hints - A Dynamic Coach New player hints system allows players to pick from a variety of tips in addition to the in-game coaching offered by the newly introduced FIFA Hints feature. Hints now appear alongside the new Player Motion Hint system, which provides tips for players about controlling their movements and how to dribble, run and shoot. New Real Player Intelligence Subtle adjustments have been made to the way players react when they get fed balls, and how they react to open space, particularly when it comes to sharing the ball. In addition, you will notice more difference in the way players run with the ball when they get caught out of position in midfield. New Pass, Dribble and Crouch animations Pass and Dribble animation controls are now mapped to the shoulder buttons, much like in FIFA 18. Players who are in possession can now bounce and improvise their way through the game with more options than ever before. Improved Player Control and Feedback Players now react in a more natural way when tackled, and a new running animation has been designed to ensure that each player has his own identity and visual identity. FIFA World Cup 2018 and UEFA Euro 2016 Teams England's manager Sam Allardyce, Germany's Joachim Low, Italy's Gian Piero Ventura, Spain's Julen Lopetegui, Portugal's Fernando Santos, Denmark's Age Hareide, the Czech Republic's Pavel Vrba, and the Republic of Ireland's Mick McCarthy will be included in the FIFAConnex team for FIFA World Cup 2018. The Champions League and Europa League titles will be locked at the top of FIFA Uplay for more than two weeks while both the Champions League and Europa League are active. Fifa 22

FIFA stands for 'Football Association of Australia' and it is the world's largest football simulation game franchise, available on consoles, mobile devices, PC, and tablets. FIFA heads are human with a sense of humour, they enjoy a strong passion for the game, and they have a sense of direction when it comes to the future of the sport, the competitions they oversee are entertaining, produce truly engaging gameplay, and are honest about their intent. FIFA has a global presence with one of the biggest football communities on the planet, the family of friends from all corners of the world who have played the game together, and the rights holders who have licensed the content and developed the game. If you're a fan of the game, then I'm sure you'll agree that FIFA has produced a consistently high level of content over the last 25 years, and this year is no exception. A new world record for in-game rendering speed and more in-depth career mode are two features players will certainly notice, plus a new head-to-head online mode, and an open beta for the game is just one way the team is continuing to innovate, and make the game even better for fans. What's New in FIFA? Now we start the countdown! We're looking forward to the new year and the EA SPORTS FIFA World Cup™ tournament, but before that we have some news! We're starting with a deep conversation on the game's new in-game rendering technology, something we think you'll be excited to hear about. Check it out in the first of EA SPORT FIFA 22s new "FIFA Facts" videos. To understand the development of FIFA 22, we need to start with the beginning. Introducing the New Rendering Engine Part of the development team's journey to where they are today was the creation of a new rendering engine for the FIFA games. When we began the development of FIFA 21, we decided to make the most of the advanced technology available, and this included choosing the most powerful hardware we could find to make a game that could look and feel like the real thing. In the case of EA SPORTS FIFA 22, our renderer could be much more powerful than in any previous game. I'm excited to tell you that we did something bc9d6d6daa

FIFA gives you the ultimate control over every decision that matters in a football game: from the way your team plays, to the way they talk, to the way they relate to each other. It brings the game to life with all-new ways to play, including live dribbling, player-to-player collisions, and a completely redesigned set of skills, including headbutt, leap, and slide tackles. Players and coaches now react and adapt even more to both short-term and long-term scenarios, as well as any changes in game conditions, to bring the game to life. Getting to know the game Ready to run, jump, and shoot? FIFA FIFA™ is looking for the most unique player. The new way to play: choose your vision, look ahead for the next pass, and do it all while the game reacts to see who's open, and when! Talking to your team: new off-ball, on-ball and head-to-head intelligence As the game's first AI-driven off-ball intelligence system, the new off-ball intelligence system anticipates and anticipates where players are going - even if they're not on the ball. The system breaks down play down into its most basic elements, from the number of players in possession to speed, acceleration and creativity, and will have players make sense of the action in real-time, not hours or even minutes later. Players now hear each other and players of the same team with a realistic range of vocal tones, from whispers to shouts to calm warnings. As the game's first AI-driven on-ball intelligence system, the new on-ball intelligence system anticipates and anticipates where players are going - even if they're not on the ball. Innovative Skill Moves: Headbutt, Leap and Slide tackles The Balance of Power system has been redesigned to ensure that all teams play in a balanced way. The new way to play: find your best balance to make plays, through player-to-player collisions, which can be timed and weighted to perfectly deliver your perfect tackle. Player-to-player collisions are new in FIFA FIFA™. With the new way to play: new control schemes, a half-weighted button for a more intuitive experience, and customizable collision weighting. The new Penalty Kick and Throw-In modes bring a new way to play: find and control the
